

WHY Are You Still Working So Hard?

You've worked hard for years building a successful business with your own blood, sweat, and tears. You achieved a level of success beyond your wildest imagination.

You're getting tired. And you deserve to relax a little now. The freedom to come and go as you please. To check those big trips off your bucket list. To be able to wake up and decide if you feel like going to work today. You really want to be able to take advantage of your hard-earned financial freedom.

You want out of the trenches.

But none of your employees are ready to take the reins. After all these years, you still feel like you must manage all the little details in your business AND be the top dog. You know it's time to look up and out on the horizon. Frankly, the business is at risk if you don't. You don't want to sell, you want to see your business thrive in the years to come.

Letting go of the day-to-day is hard.

But you know it's necessary to get what you want. You're terrified the tower you built will topple if you're not in charge day-to-day. Your financial freedom is at stake. At the same time, the long days and sleepless nights are getting to you. You need to take action, or you simply won't be able to retire when you want to.

The good news is you have a successor identified.

The problem is they're not ready to run things yet. Maybe it's a son or daughter you want to pass the business to. They're high potential, but they don't even know what they don't know about how to grow a business. And you're SO busy running the business that you don't have the time or energy to mentor someone...and you feel too emotionally invested in the business to be objective anyway. You've thought about engaging outside help but there are so many options just thinking about it is exhausting.

What if you had someone like YOU who could teach your successor how to be YOU?

Someone with deep senior leadership expertise and keen business acumen who thinks like you. A Baby-Boomer with a ton of intellectual leadership capital to help your Millennial successor avoid costly mistakes, elevate her strategic thinking, and cultivate the emotional intelligence to motivate and retain a fiercely loyal team of rock stars who take your business to new heights.

The Millennial Mentors Have Your Back

We're all those things, and we're here to help.

Our proprietary Vital 9 leadership disciplines cover the management basics to senior strategic leadership.

We work with your leader in a one-on-one coaching arrangement in all our programs. Onboarding starts with a proprietary leadership assessment to identify the real knowledge gaps. Next, an Emotional Intelligence assessment help us shape your leader's custom roadmap from which coaching objectives are prioritized within The Vital 9. Conceptual learning becomes reality as your leader completes assignments between meetings putting new behaviors and strategies to work in real time, on the job. Yes, they produce while in the program. Our commitment in the one-year program is a leader who is ready for more responsibility.

You're just one step away from enjoying that hard-earned freedom.
